Description

The Ecomusée d'Alsace is the largest open-air museum in France, located in Alsace between Colmar and Mulhouse. It resembles a traditional Alsatian village from the beginning of the 20th century and comprises more than 80 buildings on a surface of 97 hectares.

When visiting with friends or family, take part in the activities that punctuate the days in the village: milking the cow, feeding the pigs, visiting the apiary, horse-drawn carriage rides...
