+ Description

Conference concert with Etienne Klein (narrator), Geneviève Laurenceau (violin) and Nathanaël Gouin (piano).

Einstein, who revolutionized physicists' ideas of time and space, loved music, with a love that was irrepressible, vast and joyous.

"I often think in music. I live my daydreams in music. I see my life in terms of music," he once confided. In music and its masterpieces, he saw "the reflection of the inner beauty of the universe".

Since science's fascination with music is entirely reciprocal, and the creativity of one exalts the discourse of the other, we invite you, through the works of other musical geniuses, to penetrate certain metaphysical mysteries to which you (perhaps) never imagined you had access...

Works by : Bach, Schumann, Arvo Pärt...
