+ Description

Eric de Buncey, born in Paris, is a complete artist who divides his time between Alsace and Normandy. As a sculptor, he works directly in stone and wood. His favorite material is marble, mainly Belgian black marble, which he frequently combines with other materials such as wood, steel or aluminum. More recently, he began painting, first with acrylics and pigments, then with ink. He also writes poetry.

In his practice, he goes for the essential. He simplifies the lines to obtain very personal, pure forms. The result is powerful, instinctive and full of delicacy.

For the 3rd year running, he is exhibiting at Galerie Goralsky, where he will be presenting his new inks and sculptures.

He will be delighted to meet you every day from April 18 to May 3.
