+ Description

As part of Jour de la Nuit, a campaign to raise awareness of light pollution in France, 13th Sense has teamed up with Nature & Vie to bring you a film-debate on Corentin Kimeau's documentary "Où sont passées les lucioles?"

After the screening, a discussion will be led by Nature & Vie.

April 2020. Around 3 billion human beings are confined to their homes, yet street lamps remain lit, consuming energy and illuminating empty streets. Where Have the Fireflies Gone raises the question of the impact of light pollution on the environment, on human beings and on our ability to dream. Is it possible to light more intelligently without having to switch off and go back to the Stone Age?
